        c. Institute Secretary, Technical Affairs

2. The recommendation of Institute Secretaries shall be decided in a meeting of the (Outgoing) Council Core Committee before the start of the next Gymkhana tenure. The (Incoming) General Secretary shall be called to the meeting as a Special Invitee and shall not possess any voting rights in the meeting. The recommendation shall be presented to the (Incoming) General Secretary for their consideration post which it shall be forwarded to the Senate.

3. The (Incoming) General Secretary can appeal to overrule the recommendation of the (Outgoing) Council Core Committee of a candidate for the post of Institute Secretary in case they have concerns with the recommended candidate. The recommendation would be overruled only if decided with at least 2/3rd majority by a committee composed of the (Outgoing) Council Core Team members, viz., (Outgoing) General Secretary(ies) and all the (Outgoing) Institute Secretaries.

4. An overruled candidate cannot contest for the same post again if renominations are called. They can however contest for any other post in the Council including for the other remaining Institute Secretary posts (if vacant). The General Secretary may place another appeal to overrule this candidate for the remaining Institute Secretary posts (if vacant).

5. After a candidate has been overruled for the post, renominations must be called among the General Body Members who are eligible to apply for that post. Only the overruled candidate and the candidates who lost to 'no-preference' votes in the Institute Secretary elections (i.e. secured less number of votes than 'no-preference' votes in the election) would be ineligible to apply when renominations are called for the post wherein a recommended candidate has been overruled. All other General Body Members would be eligible to apply.

6. 'No-preference' vote would be a valid choice along with the candidates contesting in the renomination for the post, provided a vote takes place within the (Outgoing) Council Core Committee for the final decision. In case a 'no-preference' vote prevails, a second renomination would be called and this time, a 'no-preference' vote would not be a valid choice for the members of the (Outgoing) Council Core Committee to exercise.
